

Getting to Bournemouth

Bournemouth and its immediate surrounding area boasts a superb choice of facilities. The town plays host to many thousands of conference, meeting and event delegates each year. Wherever you are based you will find it quick, easy and, above all, convenient to travel to Bournemouth.

By Road

There are direct motorway and dual carriageway links (M3/M27/A31/A35/A338) to other parts of the country and express coach services to many UK towns and cities. Access is also available from Europe via the EuroTunnel link.

By Rail

Bournemouth benefits from an excellent rail network link with London Waterloo – a mere 97 minutes away. Fast daily services also offer regular direct connections with Scotland, the North and the Midlands.

By Air

Bournemouth International Airport offers a choice of low cost connections with a range of European cities. Neighbouring Southampton International Airport provides additional options for the incoming traveller.

By Sea

Bournemouth's neighbours – Poole and Weymouth to the west, and Southampton and Portsmouth to the east offer convenient ferry links to the continent.
