

2013/14 Business Plan - initial proposition

The LGA's is the national voice of local government. We work with councils to support, promote and improve local government.

We are a politically-led, cross party organisation which works on behalf of councils to ensure local government has a strong, credible voice with national government. We aim to influence and set the political agenda on the issues that matter to councils so they are able to deliver local solutions to national problems.

The LGA will fight local government's corner, supporting councils through challenging times and focusing our efforts where we can have real impact.

Our top priorities for local government are:

- Economic growth, jobs and prosperity – councils are recognised as central to economic growth
- Funding for local government – reform of the public sector finance system so councils raise more funds locally, have confidence their financing is sustainable and fair, and greater ability to co-ordinate local public services
- Public service reform – councils are at the centre, and seen to be at the centre, of public service reform and delivering more effective services for local people

At the heart of all this work, are our core services to councils which are driven by our belief in sector-led improvement. Supporting local government as the most efficient and accountable part of the public sector, the LGA will play a leading role in improvement and innovation so that councils can continue to make a difference in their local areas and to the lives of their residents.

We are working with councils to achieve our shared vision for local government:

CHANGING LIVES - local government has the potential to lead local communities, now more than ever before, and play a central role in economic growth. In the current economic climate, it is down to local government and its leaders, to rise to the challenge. Local government leaders are demonstrating they are up to the task and driving councils forward to ensure they achieve this role.

EFFICIENT - local government remains the most efficient part of the public sector. Councils are not afraid to cut costs and be innovative about ways of improving services, as well as being prepared to consider radical solutions where this helps delivery on the ground. To achieve this, councillors are having to make difficult and at times unpopular decisions, while delivering value for money.

ACCOUNTABLE - local government really can make a tangible, lasting difference to people. Key to this is localism which means central government letting go, putting more faith in local people, and being confident about local democracy. Councils are often the single most important source of practical advice to local communities, actively involving people in the design and delivery of their local services.

RELIABLE - councils are relied on, day in day out, to deliver excellent services whatever the circumstances. They are a safety net, picking up where other services fail, handling issues that are important to people's everyday lives. Councillors are an important resource for the local communities they represent. Councils provide the glue for local communities, ensuring social cohesion and supporting the most vulnerable people in society.

Our top priorities are as important now as they were a year ago when we first signed up to them. We will ensure all our work, including that of each of the LGA's policy boards, focuses on them and that as a result of our collective efforts, councils have the right system of funding and the right powers to get the UK economy back into economic growth and to support local services

Economic growth, jobs and prosperity – councils have a key role to play in driving economic growth and promoting consumer and business confidence. Over the last year we have been focusing on this agenda, through our local growth campaign, including our work on housing and planning, and infrastructure funding. We have demonstrated that councils have a key role to play in targeting investment and economic development activity to boost local economies and create jobs. It is also clear that councils are ambitious to do more but lack the economic levers and control over funding necessary to lead growth locally. Our work so far has involved lobbying for devolution of powers and funding streams on issues such as skills, transport, investment in housing and broadband. We are working with councils on green growth and the visitor economy. We have also been pressing for the powers devolved through city deals to be rolled out to a greater number of places. We are about to enter a phase of lobbying to fight proposed reforms that threaten to undermine local decision making on planning. Moving forward, there is a need to develop a strong and convincing case for local economic leadership, to influence spending decisions and manifestos in the lead up to the general election. With that in mind, we have commissioned research designed to set out new options for the future as to how councils can support economic growth, new jobs and wealth creation.

Funding for local government - councils were cut earlier and harder than the rest of the public sector as the government began to implement its deficit reduction policy and this is already having a profound impact on people's lives. Last year we developed a model for the next decade which shows all future sources of council revenue against future service spending demand. Our model shows a likely funding gap of £16.5 million a year by 2019/20 or a 29 per cent shortfall between revenue and spending pressures. Assuming that social care and waste are fully funded, other services face cash cuts of over 66 per cent. If capital financing and concessionary fares are also funded in full, the cash cut for remaining services rises to over 90 per cent. Local government has a track record of being the most efficient part of the public sector. But our model shows that efficiency is not going to be enough. Future sustainability starts with reform of adult social care funding. The financial future of local government is driven by care spending which will continue to grow strongly while councils' revenues will fall and then stagnate. The situation is even more challenging for councils with ageing populations. In this context it is important that councils are allowed to have a proper dialogue with residents about how much tax they want to pay and what services they want to receive in return. There is also the need for an effective conversation with local people about simply cutting out services that can no longer be afforded. These are therefore the issues we will be working on with councils over the coming year. Above all else, residents and local businesses need councils to have a fair and simple funding system that gives greater financial autonomy, supports local services and encourages economic growth.

Public service reform – the scale of the public spending cuts mean that a fundamental and ambitious rethink is needed to the way local services are funded and organised. The costliest and most intractable public service issues are almost without exception shared among a number of local agencies. Many councils are already working with other public sector organisations on this and the Whole-Place Community Budget pilots in particular will provide the evidence for radical change. From these experiences we are developing a picture of the council of the future and local public services more generally. We are focusing on new solutions such as demand management and behaviour change, with services increasingly designed round the needs of individuals. We will also provide support with generating new income streams and new approaches to commissioning, building on the work we have been doing with councils in the main areas of spend - children, adults and families - and also procurement and capital and assets. We are lobbying to ensure that other reforms such as the transfer of public health to local government, and changes to the planning system, make the most of councils' local leadership role across all public services in the interests of citizens. In the area of workforce reform we will negotiate to deliver national agreements that are seen as fit for purpose by councils along with a reformed pension scheme, without further serious industrial disruption or significant opt out rates. Alongside this, we will continue to work with councils to develop practical advice on the workforce challenges they face.

We will continue to deliver these priorities through the core services that we provide to councils.

We have come a long way since we published "Taking the Lead" in 2011. The government welcomed our proposals and there is now a real momentum around sector-led improvement. Councils are using the support we have offered and new approaches to improvement are being delivered in children's services and adult social care. Through this work councils are demonstrating collective responsibility for the performance of local government as a whole by sharing best practice and providing peer support.

This includes

- at no cost, a corporate peer challenge to every council, including a core component looking at issues of leadership, corporate capacity and financial resilience

- leadership programmes which have already provided opportunities for hundreds of politicians, equipping them to deal with the challenges being faced by their councils
 - support to help councils with capturing and sharing innovative practice through our Knowledge Hub, a free web-based service providing a single window to improvement in local government
 - access to transparent and comparable performance information through LG Inform
 - sector-led improvement programmes in children's and adults services developed and delivered through the Children's Improvement Board and the Towards Excellence in Adult Social Care Board
 - direct support where councils are facing significant underperformance challenges
 - practical support to help councils improve efficiency and productivity..
