Public affairs

We have worked on a number of other Bills throughout this period. Highlights include:

Policing and Crime Bill

The Policing and Crime Bill is a carryover Bill from the last Parliament. Importantly for local government it requires emergency services to collaborate, makes provision for a Police and Crime Commissioner (PCC) to take responsibility for the Fire and Rescue Service (FRS) in their area, and extends the powers of councils to suspend or revoke personal licences. The Bill includes provisions to reduce the use of police cells as places of safety for people with mental health problems. Since the last report we have been working with Peers to amend the Bill, including supporting amendments that seek to:

- Ensure there is a local mandate from both elected members and the wider general public for any changes to the management of FRS.
- Ensure where a transfer of governance does take place that the council monitoring officer has the final decision on whether a PCC can vote on council business.
- Place conditions on the availability and use of gaming machines in licensed premises.
- Create a power to allow public health to be a consideration in local authority licensing decisions.

Parliamentary mentions

Since April 2016 the LGA has been quoted 420 times in Parliament, which equates to being quoted 3.6 times each day Parliament sat to debate policy and legislation. Of these quotes, 306 were in the House of Commons and 114 were in the House of Lords. 80 per cent of these mentions in Parliament were positive, 19 per cent neutral and one per cent negative (see below graph).

The below charts provide an illustration of the source of the mentions (House of Commons and House of Lords) and the type (parliamentary debate, parliamentary question and Select Committee).

Events

Twenty seven events were delivered between April and September including the flagship LGA Annual Conference and Exhibition with over 1,500 attendees which took place in Bournemouth this year.

Eighty-eight per cent of the events run so far were free to attend for delegates attending from our member authorities. The free to commercial event ratio balance is being addressed across the full financial year to the target of 60/40.

Twelve per cent of events were run on a fully commercial basis including the LGA's Annual Conference and Exhibition plus two schools' workforce and employment law events held in London and York.

The commercial events have so far made £580,000 net income – exclusive of staff costs – with an anticipated gross income generation target for £1.4 million for the year.

We have engaged with 3,200 delegates already this year with 68 per cent of our audiences being made up of member authority delegates (50 per cent councillor / 50 per cent officer). 52 per cent of our events have been held in regions.

Our lead members have helped to raise awareness of LGA priorities and objectives and raise money from speaking at several externally organised events on topics such as: the next steps for school funding; school place planning and working together to tackle FGM.
